Directory of Health Science Scholarship and Loan Repayment Programs

The purpose of this document is to inform health professions students about the many financial incentives they may qualify for at both the state and federal levels. It divides programs by discipline and provides a general overview of each program and informs which programs do not allow concurrent service obligations (those programs whose funding is highlighted in yellow do not permit concurrent service obligations). If you have any questions about your financial aid options or see a profession we need to add to our directory, please contact:
